

Turkey buzzards demand recognition as being different than lawyers and politicians!

Perhaps they have been unfairly lumped together, so let us briefly compare the general characteristics between them.

Turkey Buzzards	Characteristics	Lawyers
yes	aggressively fight over dead bodies and rotting carcasses	yes yes	joyfully prey on the weak	yes yes	adept at ripping out the innards of their victims	yes yes	outstanding ability for grasping after anything they want	yes yes	willingly admit their nature and conduct their business in public	no yes	anal retentive*	yes

* In spite of the persistent rumors that turkey buzzards have no anal cavity, such an orifice has been biologically demonstrated. On the other hand, they do not generally use it, preferring to dispose of their bodily waste thru their mouth. Experience has shown of course, that lawyers and politicians do seem to follow a similar pattern. The major difference being, the humble Turkey Buzzard has no teeth.